Club Reports

Edmonton

Edmonton Well I am happy to report that the Commercial version of our newsletter is having its desired effect. The first issue went out at 150 copies and the second issue went out with 350 copies in the first two weeks. The news has been found as far north as Grimshaw and as far east as Halifax. The better news is that with the last meeting attendance, we are now back in the black money wise. With the smaller room we found the meeting was a great success and our friendliest yet with the attendance of two new members Erica and Johanne. Welcome!!! The even better news is that because of the smaller room and better attendance the door charge will be $5.00 per person instead of $10.00 now that expenses have been met. The coming up meeting will be at the usual place in the new room. Call the club phone for details. We know with summer coming so getting out is harder and harder so don't forget that we have a changing room at the meeting room that you can use so you can enjoy an evening out without having to wait till dark. Now for the Great News!! The Club is one year old!!! We now have 133 members in the club now. The Calgary club has at there last meeting given out membership #100 and Edmonton has given out #33 and Girls are we going to party on June 15, 1991. For this I will be driving my van to Calgary Friday night and returning Sunday afternoon so if any of you want a ride call me. The Motel in Calgary in the past been very good to us. It is close to the meeting place and right up the street is Chinnok Centre. So if any are interested call me

Some Thoughts on Relationships....by Barbie

Meeting new people here in the store is always exciting. People have all kinds of experiences and stories that make them unique. To see the thrill and joy of them discovering Illusions.. is always great. Some concerns that come up a lot however seem to deal with relationships. People tell me that they have been happily married for some time and thru some fate their wife or better half now knows of his feminine side. Most often the person is very hurt because his partner will not accept this as "normal". I'd like to look the person in the eye and say...WELL, what the hell did you expect??

Let's not forget that the bedrock of any relationship is honesty. Without honesty there is no relationship. The wife's anguish is easily understood. Simply put, she's been betrayed, she's been treated dishonestly and she is very hurt.

OK. We know what happened. Now what should we do? Well what do we want to do?

How much do you love your wife, partner, significant other? Are you going to have to face this same situation some day? Are you prepared? When will you start to prepare?

Ask yourself these questions and be honest with your response..Now is a good time.. to prepare. Do it now. Not tomorrow...Think about it.

How you break the news is up to you.. but I strongly recommend you be gentle, concerned and understanding. Does that sound a little bit effeminate? Of course it does, isn't that how you feel??

Barbie

Gothica a Night Of Deep Dark Legends

Here is a report on a night of Gothica, A Night of Dark Legends. A foreboding title for a party. But this party was a Ball literally. The ball was a gala affair that the Gay and Lesbian community holds every year to celebrate its own and to honour its best..... Well what can I say My GOD WHAT A PARTY!!!

We of Illusions were invited to this bash and thirteen of us went, Marsha, Barbie, Bree, Amanda, Stephanie W, Stephanie D, Marcia, Brenda, Ron, Wendy, Rose, Brandy, Ben.

This was a catered affair at the Highlander Hotel in Calgary that was fantastic. It has come to my attention that these affairs happen in Vancouver, Edmonton, Saskatoon, and Calgary every year and we are welcome to them. The next one is in Edmonton, August 4, 1991 and Regina September 14, 1991. (For more details call or write me.. Marsha)

These events are usually all week long before shows at the clubs in town. So going for the week or the weekend it's worth it!! The entertainment itself is worth the trip let alone getting out en femme in a town that knows you not.

A small note The Imperial Court in Edmonton Has reserved 30 Tickets for us any wanting one call me.. The cost is $25.00 Marsha

PROFILE: #222 DARI

Hi sisters! My name is Darien, Dari for short. I am a TS of mid-twenties and have long brown hair with big blue eyes. I stand 5' 9" tall with the measurements of 36-27-36. I weigh a whopping 143 lbs. and consider myself attractive.

I am a proud Canadian via Italian decent. Quite a shocker for my 'oldcountry' parents. I mean to find their 'Bambino' is a transsexual. I have a Performance degree in music and my long term goal is to be the greatest TS percussionist in the world ever!

At the age of 16, I quit school and went on the road. I toured Canada with various acts of all styles as well as doing many studio gigs. If there are any talented TV/TS musicians out there, please reply to me to possibly market and produce an all TV/TS recording act. Must be dedicated musicians and contacts are no problem. After touring, I studied music at the University of British Columbia and took my first steps towards becoming a lady. I have been crossdressing since the age of seven, and that was the age when I first realized the difference in gender. Throughout the years, I practised the art of being a woman. When I was twenty, I decided to start the hormonal therapy, but decided against it because I wasn't mentally ready. I had a deadline of age twenty three in my own mind, and am now proud to say that I have reached that deadline. I have been on hormone therapy for three months now, and what a peace of mind, total serenity. I am optimistic towards the future and what it holds for me even though I know how difficult times will be. I look forward to a happy and prosperous life as a beautiful, sensuous woman. I am a caring and loving person who is responsible with a zest for life. I hope that I will maintain a healthy and stable balance through the whole process. As for fetishes, I really love leather and all kinds of wild and decadent sexual behaviour. Isn't the mind great? I am also bisexual.

I really hope that I will meet many of the sisters in Alberta for long lasting friendships and beautiful bonds only shared by the very special people who share in the arts of crossdressing, or the mindset of gender reassignment.

Please feel free to write or send pictures to someone who really cares about you GIRLS!!! I look forward to meeting alot more of you women.

Love and Ideas,

Dari

The Aftermath

Or
Out of the Closet by a Sleazy Newspaper

Well here I am again, the last part of this article I tried to correct what was said in a news paper article about me. Well here is what happened next.....

The article came out Feb4 a friday the first thing I heard about it was in the evening strange phone calls saying "Love it article of yours in the paper" then a hangup. Well I went and bought the paper and to my shock I find a article that blows me out of the closet in nuclear proportions. Well I didn't get much sleep that night!!

The next morning I went into work to find that everybody new about the article, and that one person in particular was campaigning to spread the news with photocopies of the article and a statment that he had conclusive proof(it turns out the phone calls were his) When I walked into the office he was doing his number to the duty manager. The duty Manager commented " Nice article about you here", I didn't even ask if it was me, so I said " I got my ass shot out of the closet by a reporter who can't tell the truth, So now that you know. Does it bother you? She said "What people do on their time is their business But for the good of the company???"

Well I did my work and got out of there, this was the begining of weeks of no sleep and nerves. I kept away from work as much as possible for a week and finally decided to find out what my standing was with work. I went to my boss and asked him. His answer was a pleasant shock. He said " What I did on my time was my business but because of someone it's everyones business now. Because of his mouth. I fired him on monday because he would not stop telling everybody about you and he approached a couple of customers of yours about you. and they came in and complained about the filthy rumours this guy was spreading about you." Well what can I say this made me feel better that my job and carreer was safe and in a couple of weeks every thing was normal as it can be. There are just a couple out of 42 people at work that treat me any different and out of my friends only a couple haven't been around. The only blessing is that my Dad didn't find out because he lives on the coast. The story does get deeper but I can't get into all the details but great discoveries about people were made I found at work that we have a closet Gay that to save face goes out of his way to raise trouble for others. Another that won't accept me at work or have anything to do with me not even a "goodmorning" that I found at 318 in Calgary with his boy friend an when I approached him he was ready to pick me up untill he woke up to who I was and then bolted like a scared rabbit.

The one thing that I must say is that this happening the way it did give me a very bad month but now that it is done and the results of what happened has left me surprised and happy. BUT BE WARNED!!!!

This is what happed to me, I know of others in our club that when discovered have had thier lives torn apart. If you deside to tell anybody do so on your own accord I was lucky to have good people who found out.

TONERS THE NATURAL WAY

Toners, called variously astringents, refreshers, and skin tonics, are important for removing any remaining trace of cleansers. They also tighten the pores and impart a clean, refreshing feeling to the skin. Toners can also be used as a pickup or a quick cleanser during the day.

Elderflower water, lavender water, orange-flower water and rosewater are four classic tonics still valued today for all skin types. They can be purchased as distilled waters, which will keep for months, or can be made as a strong infusion to be refrigerated and used within three days.

Dry Skin:

Rosewater Toner

The soothing properties of rose make this a good tonic for dry, sensitive and mature skins.

3/4 cup rosewater 2/3 cup witch hazel 6 drops glycerine

Blend all the ingredients in a bottle and shake well before each use.

Oily Skin

Sage Astringent

4 tbsp dried sage 4 tbsp ethyl alcohol 1/4 tsp borax
3 tbsp witch hazel 10 drops glycerin

Macerate the sage in the alcohol for two weeks and then strain

Dissolve the borax in the witch hazel. Stir into the alcohol. Mix in the glycerin and decant into a bottle with a tight-fitting lid. Refrigerate and shake well before each use.

THE THERAPEUTIC BATH HERBS FOR THE HEALTH MINDED PERSON!

RELAXING BATH HERBS: HERBAL LIGHTENERS AND HIGHLIGHTERS:

Chamomile	Linden Flowers
Hops	Meadowsweet
Jasmine	Valerian

Chamomile can be used as a highlighter and lightener for blonde and light brown hair. Infuse 8 tablespoons of fresh or dried chamomile and use regularly.

Rhubarb Root as well can be used as a lightener for blonde and light brown hair. Just make a strong decoction and use regularly.

To make a decoction simmer 2 ounces of herb in 4 cups water for 20 minutes. Cool, strain and pour through the hair. Catch the rinse in a bowl and repeat for a few more times.

To make a decoction paste use one ounce of herb with one cup of water. Boil, strain and add kaolin powder to make a smooth paste. Apply to hair roots and gradually work down to hair shafts. Cover head with hot, soft towel and a plastic bag to retain the heat. Leave for 20 minutes or longer.

STIMULATING BATH HERBS:

Basil	Mint
Bay	Pennyroyal
Eucalyptus	Pine
Fennel	Rosemary
Ivy	Sage
Lavender	Tansy
Lemon Balm	Thyme
Lemon Verbena

HEALING BATH HERBS:

Calendula	Lady's Mantle
Comfrey	Spearmint
Houseleek	Yarrow

To redden hair you can use a decoction of either Calendula or Red Hibiscus. Great for brown to black hair.

SPRING TONIC BATH HERBS:

Blackberry Leaves	Lawn Daisies
Dandelion	Nettle

To darken hair, a decoction of sage, sage and rosemary, or ivy berries works wonders as well.

FACIALS.

For those of you who have experienced a facial will know of the utmost bliss that erupts from your inner self as the cosmetologist works the various creams and emoluments into your skin and the utter pleasure of the experience as it takes over your very being. I am lucky in one way through what many people would refer to as a terrible accident, but as far as I am concerned it was a blessing in disguise.!

During my stint in the Royal Air Force I was posted to a mobile unit in Germany. I had but one month to go before I was demobilized when the accident happened. At that time I was responsible for a wide range of radio and radar equipment and as luck would have it I was devoid of any 1.300 Sg. Sulphuric acid, but I did have a gallon of 1.800 Sg Sulphuric acid on site. My superior officer gave me permission to break down the 1.800 Sg acid to the 1.300 Sg level.

I dressed in the heavy rubber apron, put my earthen wear crock 100 yards from the nearest vehicle, slipped the industrial goggles over my eyes and drew on a massive pair of shoulder length rubber gloves. I filled the earthen wear crock with distilled water, dropped in the hydrometer float and started pouring in the acid. I watched the hydrometer float carefully as the acid combined with the distilled water, 1.700-1.600-1.500-1.400 Better take it a bit steady I'm almost there. 1.37-1.35-1.34-1.33-1.32-1.31-1.300. STOP. GOT IT. I flipped the bottle of sulphuric acid back smartly as the hydrometer float floated serenely at the 1.300 mark, but the remaining acid in the bottle slopped and splashed. I received four large spots of neat sulphuric acid on my left face. One behind the left ear, one in front of the left ear, one on the left hand corner of my mouth and one on the bottom centre of my chin. It felt as though I had laid a soldering iron across my face. I dived for the box of bicarbonate of soda and emptied the box over my left face. The acid reacted like a soda pop bottle when it has been shaken up, but at least the acid was neutralized although the burn was burning away like mad. The unit medic bundled me into a vehicle that was used as a make shift ambulance and we drove the 35 Kms. into Head Quarters at the Flughafen in Oldenburg. The doctor on the camp took one look at my face and promptly ordered an application of Aquaflavene to ease the pain of the burn. Reaction? wow. the Aquaflavene reacted violently with the bicarbonate of soda and promptly turned a bilious shade of green. I walked round Oldenburg that weekend with the yellow of the Aquaflavene vivid across the whole of my left face that was in turn brilliant red with the acid burn that was in turn green with the chemical reactions taking place, whilst the scabs from the acid burn hung down in long festoons across my left cheek. It is quite true that the poor German people of Oldenburg crossed the road to avoid coming to close to me.

Back home I applied for and received a pension for the accident and with the help of my wife started to use a variety of face creams to attempt to hide the four very visible scars across my left cheek. To this day I still do not have any feeling in that part of my face. But, and this is where the accident was a boon in disguise. Quite lately, within the past ten years, I have noticed that my left mouth puckers up as a result of these acid burns and as a budding transvestite I utilized the services of the nearest cosmetologist and started having regular six weekly facials. The first visit is quite daunting to the uninitiated. You enter the cubicle and are told to strip to the waist and lie down on the reclining couch. The cosmetologist then comes in and lays a blanket across you and wraps your hair in a triangular white linen scarf that is bobby pinned into place. Lovely languid soft fingers slather your face with a deep cleansing cream and massage the cream well into your pores. The resulting wipe with a soft cloth is dramatic as the cosmetologist shows you the amount of dirt that the massage and cream pulled out of your face. You blush demurely with embarrassment. The cosmetologist continues with the facial explaining everything as she works on you. I could go into the full description at this point, but that is not the point of this short article. What the point is, is that any transvestite finding herself on her back on a cosmetologist lounge is in a controlling situation.!

"Oh, by the way do you put on make up after a facial or before a facial.?"

An innocent question but one that provides a lot of answers with potential profit for the transvestite.!

The answer always is that the make up is always applied before a facial and very rarely on the same day.

Next question then automatically occurs.

"Isn't the makeup sticky or waxy and does it really clog the pores such that it is essential to have a regular facial.?"

A loaded question and one that the pride of the cosmetologist suddenly exudes. The resulting discussion lets one into every nuance of the cosmetology field and usually finishes up with the cosmetologist quietly asking.

"Would you like to see what makeup feels like next time you come in.?"

After you have finished spluttering you profuse thanks you make an appointment as quickly as you wallet and time allow and then settle back to enjoy a full professional makeup.

Utilizing the services of different cosmologists over the years I have enjoyed many a lovely two hours of full professional makeup whilst having a cup of coffee with the cosmetologist. These sessions have also included manicures, pedicures and eye brow shaping, and in the case of myself have gone a long way to relieve my intense feminine cravings to the point that I now make it a habit of always asking these two innocent questions when ever my acid burn to my face dictates facial is necessary.

I still do not have any feeling in my left face, my mouth still puckers up but as the skin is eased back into a normal elasticity I am in my seventh heaven in a beauty salon receiving a facial and/or makeup far from the madding crowd.

Ah me, the joys of transvestism.!

ERICA DARLING.
